Hello, Parents/Guardians and Students,

I hope this letter finds you well and in good spirits. I must say, these past three months have been interesting for us all as residents of Philadelphia and citizens of this nation. As COVID-19 continues to be an issue for our city, we will continue the academic school year with our virtual learning model.

As Module 1 comes to an end on Friday November 20, 2020, I want to stress the importance of not allowing this pandemic to slow your goal of reaching your ZERO Day and earning your high school diploma. If you were engaged and you earned your credits towards graduation during Module 1, I say congratulations, keep up the great work! If you were not able to engage in Module 1 due to life circumstances and the inability to fully participate in live instructional classes all day, I say come back, we have some new learning options for you.

Starting Module 2, Monday, November 30, 2020, all students have the choice of either attending 3 live instructional classes, 3 self-paced credit recovery courses via Edgenuity or a blend of both, depending on your credit needs for graduation. Students can be rostered into one, two or three classes. You have a choice to allow yourself to continue your education while you adjust your life during this time.

I know that we are living in unusually times with what seems like no end in sight. Please stay engaged with us and reach out to us so that we can help you stay on track. If you have moved or your phone number has changed, please email us at: studentinfo@onebightray.org. In addition, Module 1 report cards will be mailed out during the week of November 30, 2020 to December 4, 2020. If you would like to set up a parent/Teacher/Principal virtual conference to discuss grades, rosters or support, please email your Campus Principal.

Thank you,

Marcus A. Delgado
